The annual Legislative Reception and Dinner was held on Wednesday, January 20, 2016. The event drew approximately 125 members and guests, including Senate Republican Leader Christine Radogno, House Republican Leader Jim Durkin, Senators Michael Connelly, Tom Cullerton, and Linda Holmes, and Representatives Patti Bellock, Linda Chapa LaVia, Mike Fortner, Jeanne Ives, Stephanie Kifowit, Grant Wehrli, Kathleen Willis, and Christine Winger.

During the evening, Mayors Martin Tully (Downers Grove) and Tom Weisner (Aurora) presented the Conference's six legislative priorities for 2016. We thank Mayors Tully and Weisner and all who attended for helping to make the Legislative Reception and Dinner a success.

Mayor Martin Tully Named DMMC Governmental Leader of the Year

The Conference presented Downers Grove Mayor Martin Tully with the 2015 Governmental Leader of the Year award during the annual Legislative Reception and Dinner on January 20. Since 1993, the Conference has annually recognized a governmental official who has significantly supported DuPage municipalities. The Governmental Leader of the Year is a person who understands municipal burdens, supports important municipal legislation or initiatives, and seeks solutions to municipal concerns.

Mayor Tully was recognized for his exceptional efforts as a strong voice for municipalities. During a challenging year, Mayor Tully led and represented the Conference on complex issues, including challenges to public safety pension reform and threats to Local Government Distributive Fund revenue. We thank Mayor Tully for his leadership and hard work on behalf of municipalities and the Conference.

Members and DuPage Area Legislators Take a Coffee Break

The Conference hosted a Coffee Break with legislators on October 9, 2015. During the casual open house, members and legislators discussed topics of mutual interest and importance to DuPage municipalities over coffee. Schaumburg Receives Distinguished Budget Presentation Award

The Village of Schaumburg announced it has received the Distinguished Budget Presentation Award from the Government Finance Officers Association (GFOA) for meeting the highest principles of governmental budgeting.

"I am pleased to receive this award on behalf of our staff that helped put this budget document together. This is the second year in a row in which we have been given this accolade," Director of Finance Lisa Happ said. "This demonstrates the village's continued commitment of providing a clean, transparent budget document that is easily accessible to the public."

To receive the significant achievement, Schaumburg satisfied nationally recognized guidelines for effective budget presentation. The guidelines assess how well an organization's budget serves as a policy document, a financial plan, an operations guide and a communications device. Budget documents must achieve a proficiency rating in all four categories, including 14 mandatory criteria within those categories, to receive the award.

"I am proud of our staff for working to produce a professional budget document that year after year exemplifies the highest possible standard," Village Manager Brian Townsend said.

Schaumburg's fiscal year budget 2015-16 is available on the village's website at <http://www.ci.schaumburg.il.us/Docs/Finance/Pages/Budget.aspx>.

One thousand four hundred and twenty-four participants received the award for budgets beginning in 2013. Award recipients have pioneered efforts to improve the quality of budgeting and provide an excellent example for other governments throughout North America.

The Government Finance Officers Association is a major professional association servicing the needs of more than 18,000 appointed and elected local, state and provincial-level government officials and other finance practitioners. The association's headquarters is based in Chicago with offices in Washington D.C. The Distinguished Budget Presentation Awards Program is the only national awards program in governmental budgeting. For more information, visit www.gfoa.org

Schaumburg Wins Code Enforcement Agency of the Year Award

The Village of Schaumburg is pleased to announce it has been awarded the Illinois Association of Code Enforcement's (IACE) Agency of the Year Award for 2015 in recognition of the village's single-family home rental inspection program that was recently implemented.

The new program ensures rental properties are being maintained safely and strives to maintain a high quality housing stock and a clean and attractive community. As part of the program, all rented single family homes will be inspected once every three years. Previously, rental homes were inspected on a complaint basis only. It is estimated Schaumburg has approximately 300 single family homes being used as rental properties.

One-third of the existing licensed locations will be inspected each year and any new locations will be inspected when a rental license application is submitted. IACE presented the award to Schaumburg at its annual business meeting/quarterly training session that was held December 9 in Elgin.

"The Naperville Police Department is lucky to have Detective Paul Elliott, and we're grateful to the DJOA for recognizing the value he brings to Naperville, as well."

Federal Act Adopts New Standards for Crude Oil Transport

On December 4th, President Obama signed into law a long-awaited federal transportation funding reauthorization bill-the Fixing America's Surface Transportation (FAST) Act-which provides $305 billion over five years for the nation's transportation systems (<https://www.congress.gov/bill/114th-congress/house-bill/22/text>). Summarized below are some of the law's provisions concerning the transportation of crude oil by rail.

First, the FAST Act expands on a May 2015 US DOT regulation (<https://www.fra.dot.gov/eLib/Details/L16356>) that required all tank cars that transport crude oil and other hazardous liquids to meet new and safer specifications. The Fast Act requires an estimated 40,000 additional tank cars be retrofitted to meet the new DOT-117, DOT-117P or DOT-117R specifications and establishes a new timeline to phase-out non-compliant tank cars. For example, DOT-111 tank cars will be phased out for transport of unrefined petroleum products by March 1, 2018.

Further, the Act requires that all new and retrofitted tanker cars carrying crude oil and ethanol be equipped with "thermal blankets"-insulation technology designed to improve safety by better containing fires. The tank cars must also have stronger protective housing around pressure relief valves to prevent this equipment from getting sheared off in a derailment.

Finally, the new law increases reporting requirements. By the end of 2016, the US DOT must issue regulations requiring railroads to provide state emergency response officials with information regarding the transport of hazardous materials, including information on the type and quantity of materials, the train's point of origin and destination and emergency contacts. This builds on the agency's 2014 emergency regulations that required railroad carriers to report to state emergency response officials regarding train transports of Bakken crude oil of at least 1 million gallons.

FY 16-21 STP Program Approval

Twelve new projects and three resubmitted project (10 HWY, 5 TCM) will be fully funded. An additional HWY project and TCM project will be partially funded. Award letters were sent to project sponsors in early December.

Integrated Ventra App Now Available

The Regional Transit Authority Ventra App is now available via Google Play and the Apple App Store. The app integrates information from all three regional transit service operators--i.e., CTA, Metra and Pace--to create a unified personal transit management system. The app allows users to set up and manage a Ventra account which can be used to pay fares and purchase tickets for transit trips throughout the Chicago service area. Users can also configure their Ventra App account to receive notifications when account balances are low or passes or tickets are due to expire. App functionality also supports the reporting of real-time arrival information for CTA, Metra and Pace vehicles. For more information about the application including how-to videos refer to the Ventra App website, <https://www.ventrachicago.com/app>.

NACTO's Innovative Guidelines For Street, Bikeway (and Transit) Design

Design guidelines for streets and bikeways have improved dramatically in recent years in large part because of the efforts of the National Association of City Transportation Officials (NACTO). The organization's Urban Street and Urban Bikeway Design Guides (<http://nacto.org>), in particular, have become the "go to" resources for municipalities wishing to plan and design safe and convenient facilities for all modes of transportation. The vast majority of treatments illustrated in the guides are now referenced in American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials (AASHTO) specifications and either allowed or not precluded by the Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices (MUTCD). The Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) issued a memorandum (http://nacto.org/wp-content/uploads/2013/09/design_flexibility_memorandum_092013.pdf) officially supporting the use of NACTO guides to further develop nonmotorized transportation networks. NACTO has also worked to bring the guides' content closer to practitioners through webinars, conference presentations, peer-to-peer learning sessions, and both day-long and multi-day on-site trainings. For example, a NACTO training session was held at last month's Illinois Bicycle Summit in Champaign which brought together leaders in street and bikeway design with city transportation officials to address local transportation challenges. Municipal officials interested in bringing a training or workshop to your city should read the Training Program Handbook for Cities (<http://nacto.org/wp-content/uploads/2015/06/NACTO-Training-Program-Handbook-for-Cities.pdf>). NACTO plans to release its Transit Design Guide later this year.
